TELEGRAPH LINE.

To the Editor of The Times

Sir, - In reply to "F.A." communication, published in your paper of the 14th

inst., I have to state that the Belgo-

did not see Mr. Giesbrecht, at Qu'Appelle that gentleman being absent from the place when we passed it. In November

Hon. Senator Molan and myself had an interview at Qu'Appelle with Sir Charles Tupper, on telegraph extension and kindred matters. I then at the request of Sir Charles Tupper and Senator

Molau called upon Sir Hector Langevin,

the Minister of Public Works, when after considerable discussion the following results were arrived at, viz.:

1. Sir Hector Langevin would recommend that an Order in Council be passed to authorize the construction of a branch

telegraph line to Prince Albert

2. That this branch should be started from the Trunk Line, where it crosses

the South Saskatchewan River at the Elbow, and run direct to Prince Albert

via Duck Lake and St. Laurent

settlements.

3. That permanent telegraph stations

should be located at the crossing of the river, at Duck Lake, St. Laurent and at

Prince Albert

4. That in consideration of the favorable construction and branch and permanently maintaining said telegraph

offices at an early date, next summer, on behalf of the people of Prince Albert, I would undertake that they would provide

and lay on the ground the full number of poles required to complete the line

from the crossing to Prince Albert.

At the request of the Minister I drew up in writing a memorial to be presented to the Council defining the arrangements

desired.

It may be further stated that I brought under the notice of Sir Hector Langevin

the great necessity of establishing a public ferry across the crossing near South

Branch, at a point between Giesbrecht's

and Fisher's crossing. The Minister promised to support this measure, conditionally, that the people of Duck Lake and St. Laurent would build and maintain a ferry boat. The Government to provide and fix in position across the river a wire rope. On this subject a letter was also handed to Sir Hector

Langevin, who promised to bring the matter before Council forthwith.

THE BEST POLICY.

Mr. Staveley Hill, M. P., struck the right key in his speech during the discussion that ensued at the close of the Bishop of Saskatchewan's address delivered before the members of the Colonial Institute in London in the month of December last. Mr. Hill has visited the North West Territories more than once, and was, therefore, in a position to speak from actual observation and from personal knowledge. He has had a very great deal to do in the matter of emigration, and knows, probably, as much as the next man of the wants and condition of the laboring classes in England, and, consequently, anything he may say on the subject of emigration carries considerable weight. In contrast with the life of the laborer in England with that in the North West, Mr. Hill is quoted as saying: "I have been now for two autumns out in the North West, and I have seen the struggle in farming by the laborer who goes out there to settle. He loses there much that he has gained in England. The laborer in England looks to his landlord and his master to find everything for him that his wages do not produce—school for his children, and help in sickness, misfortune and old age. Out there, there is no one to look to but his own strong back and his own right arm, and if these be strong enough, and his heart and will be good enough, he can make for himself a home; but do not let us persuade laborers to go out there by telling them it is a Paradise, in which they will achieve easily a competency. It is only if they are willing to bring to bear the greatest energy and the highest power which a laborer can bring to bear upon the material forces of nature, that he will be able to secure to himself a competency. Without that, starvation, penury, and every one of the worst maladies in their worst form which can fall upon the human race will be his lot in the North West. With strength and energy he will achieve happiness; but unless he can make up his mind to go to work with the utmost power that lies in human nature he had better stay at home." Now, we must not be mistaken or misunderstood. It is neither our desire nor intention to say one single word in disparagement of this great North West country. It is not our province to invite comparisons between it and the old country or the older provinces, but we say, and must conscientiously say, that honesty in speaking of the country will be found to be in the end the best policy. The man who has been deceived in coming to the North West will, if he returns home, otherwise by letter, work more mischief than we wot of. Far better would it have been if in that man's case the disadvantages as well as the advantages had been pointed out to him, and himself left the one to decide as to his future. The Settlement of Prince Albert has, we venture to say, been better and more systematically written up than any other portion of the North West Territories. And yet we fear, and we hesitate not a little in expressing the fear, that a good deal has been said that might have been better left unsaid. The good intentions towards the Settlement cannot be gainsaid, but isn't it just possible that the coloring has been overdone? Isn't honesty the best policy after all? While we firmly believe in the future of this great country and this Settlement we cannot overlook the points we have touched upon. If emigrants are determined upon making the North West their future home it is not likely that any extremes of heat and cold are going to stop them. There is no need for precaution in the matter. If the soil and the climate are all that have been said of them, and nobody yet has disputed either the fertility of the soil or the salubrity of the climate, what need is there for untruthfulness about other matters in connection therewith. We believe, and every right minded person will agree with us, that the policy which we have, perhaps imperfectly, attempted to impress upon our readers will be found to be the best policy after all, and that it will redound more to the advancement, condition and progress of the country in the future than any misrepresentations could possibly effect.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

We regret that no move has yet been made for a meeting to discuss the ways and means for a telegraph line, briefly referred to last week. We think it a great mistake to delay the matter. Before the snow is off the ground the poles ought to be distributed along the route so that when spring opens much time would be saved. If we are not to have a weekly mail for some time, let us by all means have the telegraph. Who will move in the matter?

The address delivered by the Bishop of Saskatchewan before the members of the Colonial Institute in London has been in this country read with a great deal of interest, and the attendance on the occasion shows the lively interest that is taken in England in anything pertaining to the North West Territories. While engaged in his noble mission abroad the Bishop never fails to say a good word for the North West. In whatever the Bishop says he is intensely enthusiastic, and his enthusiasm rarely fails to carry conviction to his hearers. It is gratifying to know that he has been eminently successful in his avowed object thus far.

CURLING.

The scoring at points for the Royal Caledonian Society's medal was entered into very spiritedly on Saturday last by the members of the Saskatchewan Curling Club, and keen interest in the match was maintained throughout. The match was won by Mr. George T. Brown in playing off the ice. The following is the score: George T. Brown 10 points. G. D. Northgraves 10 points. J. A. Sinclair 10 points. John F. Kennedy 9 points. J. A. Marshall 9 points. A. Goodfellow 8 points. R. Gwynne 8 points. J. L. Johnson 8 points. John Wynnekirch 8 points. William Miller 7 points. W. A. McLean 7 points. E. W. Wade 7 points. George Luck 5 points.

J. O. Davis was out to St. Laurent last week, and reports the roads good. Jackson A. Jackson has a first-class yoke of oxen for sale, five years old and well trained.

There is going to be a big rush for seats at the concert to-morrow evening. Secure your tickets and seats early.

The social held in the Methodist church last Thursday evening passed off successfully. The first hour was very sociably spent in partaking of the ample supply of edibles, provided as usual by the ladies. Tea having been served, Mr. John F. Little was then called to the chair, and in his characteristic way immediately proceeded to business, and a lengthy and interesting programme of singing, recitations and speeches was got through with. The autograph quilt, by means of which the ladies had raised almost sufficient for the organ, was then presented to the pastor's wife by the chairman. After the National Anthem had been sung and the benediction pronounced, the party dispersed, all highly satisfied with the evening's amusement.

TOWN NEWS.

According to the country, to move on soon. It is reported that Major Jas. Walker, manager of the same ranch, has been asked to resign.

Large trains loaded with flour may be seen daily leaving Mr. McKay's mills on the Red River.

Don't forget the concert in the Trinity Lutheran Church in aid of the local fund to-morrow evening.

Mr. McKay has finished on his new week. His wheat turned out well, there being thirty seven bushels to the acre.

The curling match for the President's medal will take place on the rink Saturday afternoon, at two o'clock sharp.

Oats and barley are now selling at $1.25 per bushel, with an upward tendency. Wheat continues firm at $1.25 each.

As soon as the ice is out of the river sailing will be carried on very busily, as there is now a large quantity of building logs cut and stacked at Lily Ham.

Mr. M. L. Linn, mail contractor, has gone back to leave his property at his home, on the bank of the Red River, near the mouth of the Red River, near the mouth of the Red River, near the mouth of the Red River.

Owing to the non-arrival of our paper from Winnipeg, we have been obliged to reduce the size of THE TIMES for four pages for a few weeks, until the arrival of our stock by dog train from Cumberland.

A large train of sleighs arrived last week for St. James & Worsman. They have received a large stock of the finest confectionery we have seen in the town. They appear to be laying in a good supply before the cold break up.

Mr. Keene and Mr. Porter, brother of Dr. Porter, of this town, arrived from Regina on the 15th inst. Mr. Keene has brought in some fast horses, which will test the bottom of some of our local trainers and show the effect of receiving interest on the part.

A racing race for $1000 a side will take place Saturday afternoon at two o'clock on the ice in front of the Mission between "Hard & Baker's" Chas. and Mr. Keene's "Sleazy Ben." Last two in three, half mile heats. "Sleazy Ben" has a record of 2:38.

Capt. W. H. Andrews and three men arrived from Exeter Monday forenoon. Men and horses all look well after their trip. Capt. Andrews reports the roads badly rutted in many places between here and Duck Lake. One of the men will remain at this post.

A train of twenty-one sleighs left on the 15th inst. for the trip to J. O. Davis & Co. spring supply of boots and shoes. Taking into account the other heavy stocks in this line that are being imported, we may confidently expect sleigh roads next spring.

During the past week our streets have seemed a very busy place. We understand that most of the farmers have now threshed out their grain, and the weather having greatly improved, we may confidently expect a big run of business while the sleighing lasts.

Peter McLachlin, an old pioneer who served for many years in the gallant 88th and Royal Canadian Rifles, has beaten his sword into a ploughshare. He threshed out his crop some time ago, and informs us that he had forty bushels of wheat to the acre. This and the shilling and a half per day pension is likely to carry him through the winter.

Information was received at the Police Barracks at a late hour on Saturday night that a Sioux had shot his wife. Constables Ross and Fontaine at once proceeded across the river, where they found a Sioux woman dead. But it appears that she had died on the morning of the 17th from natural causes. It is customary for them to fire over their dead. The deceased woman was placed on a tripod, neatly wrapped in blankets, with a quantity of provisions and clothing, supposed to comfort her soul on its way to the happy hunting grounds.

Plans of townships 33, 34, 35 and 36, in range 1 and 2 west of the third principal meridian were received at the Dominion Lands' Office here on the 8th inst. Under sub-sections 5 and 11 of section 34 of the Dominion Lands' Act, residents within these townships who make entry within three months from the date of the receipt of the plans at the local lands office are entitled to receive their patents upon proving that they have already performed the settlement duties as required by law. Residents should therefore make immediate application, and as these townships are situated at some distance, should not forget that it is necessary to produce the evidence of two disinterested witnesses in support of their claims.
